Dear Nominating Committee:

It is a distinct honor to nominate Alex Garcia for the Fayette County Bar Association's Citizen Lawyer Award. This award is intended to recognize attorneys who transcend their professional obligations to improve their community through governmental, charitable, and civic service. Alex does not merely meet this standard; he defines it through a lifetime of service that spans from the front lines of military readiness to the heart of Lexington's cultural and educational institutions.

Alex's commitment to service is perhaps most visible in his role as a Major in the United States Army Reserve. In this capacity, he performs the essential work of ensuring our soldiers are legally prepared for the rigors of deployment. By drafting wills, medical directives, and powers of attorney, he provides a critical sense of security to those who serve our country. This work is a testament to his belief that the law is a tool for protection and peace of mind for those in the most high-stakes environments.

His impact on the civic life of Lexington is equally profound. Alex currently serves as the Chairman of LexArts, the city's premier governmental arm for the arts, where he advocates for the vital role of culture in our local economy. His dedication to public resources is further evidenced by his tenure on the Lexington Public Library Board and his current service on the Library Foundation Board. These roles, combined with his past leadership on the High Street YMCA Board, demonstrate a career-long devotion to the health, literacy, and vibrancy of our community.

Beyond his work in the arts and education, Alex is a tireless advocate for justice and equity. He provides a crucial legal perspective as a member of the Mayor's Racial Justice and Equity Commission and as a Legal Advisor for the Lexington Public Schools Equity Council. His active membership in the Lexington Chapter of the NAACP and his involvement with Partners for Youth further highlight his dedication to mentoring the next generation and dismantling systemic barriers within our city.

Alex Garcia is the quintessential "citizen lawyer." He balances the rigorous demands of the Army Reserve and his legal advisory roles with a deep, hands-on commitment to the charitable and governmental organizations that make Lexington a better place to live. He is an exemplary candidate for this honor, and I recommend him without reservation.

I would be happy to answer any additional questions you may have about Alex

Sincerely,

Stefan Bing
